A masterpiece in harmonious creativity is the five-star Imperial Tongsai Bay Hotel whose 48 individual cottages and 24 rooms on a hill overlooking its own private bay and golden sandy beach seem like natural outcroppings as the trees, shrubs and rocks that have been there since time immemorial.

The total environmental-blend concept has even extended to a unique and delightful feature — the Rock Suite, where nature has been left undisturbed and a monolith has emerged from the bowels of the earth to silently stand guard over the sleeping guests.

All the cottages and hotel rooms are air-conditioned and fully-furnished with modern amenities including international direct-dialling telephone, refrigerator, mini-bar, colour television and video.

There is a saltwater swimming pool but some may prefer other recreational activities... sailing, canoeing, fishing, windsurfing or snorkelling. A tennis court is also available.

And after dinner at the hotel's restaurant, there is a piano lounge for romantic songs, a game of snooker and, of course, a nightcap or two.

No wonder lovers of nature and tranquillity, not to mention honeymooners, have found their perfect retreat from the outside world here at The Imperial Tongsai Bay Hotel.
